Crane, Parris & Co. have this to say Great Northern Ore. 3914 3918 egarding Lanston Monotype Company: "Shareholders in Lanston Monotype Hide & Leather com. 614 Machine Company are awaiting with interest the forthcoming annual restephed entirely.

"Preliminary figures indicate that the profits for the fiscal year will be a little more than $380,000, which is equal to a fraction over 6 per cent on the stock. In view of the conditions in general business and bearing a mind that European trade is entire. n mind that European trade is entirey cut off, it is not considered that this is a bad showing. It is reported that the increase in domestic business for the first three months of the year was greater than for the same months in the previous year, and that March trade the previous year, and that March trade showed an increase of $30,000, as compared with that of March, 1914."

In view of the earnings, the latent strength in the price of its shares, with the removal of minimum price protection, was not surprising.
